Summary

"What we become is a result of habit, good habits are hard to form but easy to live by but bad habits are easy to form but hard to live by", Aristotle. I am motivated by challenges and pressure cause they get me uncomfortable and the more uncomfortable I get the more I grow, the more I achieve, the more reliable I get. This is a habit I have formed and leave by each and every single day. The world is constantly changing with the help of technology and I want to be at the forefront, bringing change to the people and community around me. I have a desire to join machine learning and artificial intelligence in the future.
